

Course Description

Optional Courses in Clinical and Health Psychology

Aim of the course

Aim of the course

These optional courses provide opportunity to deepen the knowledge and skills in various research methods or psychological interventions. Students can select one course from the actual list of available courses. Each year, we try to provide many courses and students can select according to their interest.

Learning outcome, competences

knowledge:

- More detailed knowledge and understanding of the specific subject of the given course.

attitude:

- Increasing the openness to deepen the understanding in specific fields.

skills:

- Developing specific skills in research methods or psychological intervention methods according to the given course.

Content of the course

Topics of the course

The list is provided by the instructor of the given course before the course.

Learning activities, learning methods

The course instructors select the appropriate teaching method.

Evaluation of outcomes

Learning requirements, mode of evaluation, criteria of evaluation:

requirements

The course instructors determine it based on the characteristics of the course.

mode of evaluation:

practice mark

criteria of evaluation:

- The course instructors determine it based on the characteristics of the course, and inform the students at the beginning of the semester.

Reading list

Compulsory reading list

- The course instructors determine it based on the characteristics of the course, and inform the students at the beginning of the semester.

Recommended reading list

- The course instructors determine it based on the characteristics of the course, and inform the students at the beginning of the semester.